

Our website consists of 7 pages, including a Home page, About Us page, Contact Us page and a page for each chapter of the CCC report. On the home page we have a form that the user can fill in and will be validated by both HTML5 and JavaScript then send them a personalised email with information about the news, with animated title text on every page. The form also features a reset button that will reset the form if the user encounters any errors during their input. The About Us page features some information about our team and a button linking to the Contact Us page. The Contact Us page features information about how to get in touch with the CMP members, with links to social media, an interactive Google map and a form to contact the team with any feedback. We also have a page for every chapter of the CCC report, this includes a summary of each chapter and a link to navigate to the next/previous chapter. Our navigation bar has links to all of the pages, including a clickable logo to return to the Home page and a drop-down menu to access the specific chapters. We have also implemented a favicon to display in the browser's tabbing section to easily identify the website. Finally we have a footer with links to privacy policies, terms of service, quick links and last updated text. We split the work by doing a chapter each and dividing up the additional work based on skills.
